THE GREAT QUESTION SETTLED.

No Southern Publishing House for Baptists in Richmond Branch Needed.

Dr. A. E. Dickinson returned yesterday from Birmingham, where he attended the session of the Southern Baptist Convention. He says the other Baptist delegates will be here today. When asked about the work of the convention by a DISPATCH reporter, Dr. Dickinson said:

"We had a very large and imposing meeting and the results reached were, in the main, very satisfactory. The question about the need of a Southern Baptist publishing house for the South, which has been agitated and little feeling had been aroused. This had much to do with bringing to this meeting of the convention, and the subject was explained by the fact that the talesmen were not present in the courtroom.

HEREAFTER THE POLICE WILL SIMPLY ENFORCE THE ORDINANCE.

Major Poe Rescinds His Order Regarding Seventh and Broad-A Complaintant's Statement.

Captain J. B. Angle, of the Second district, yesterday received the following letter from Major Poe, Chief of Police, regarding the effects of the "ordinance of the police to prevent loitering on the corners of Seventh and Broad streets:

"As the citizens seem to take offense at our efforts to keep the corners of Seventh and Broad streets from being obstructed by idlers and loafers who stare at and insult passing ladies, I shall rescind the order, as averted. The police will simply enforce the ordinance, and in one case charges have been preferred against a policeman for conduct unbecoming a policeman in the performance of his duty. In future instruct the men to only enforce the ordinance."

The complaint referred to in the letter of Major Poe was made against Captain W. G. Williams, one of the most efficient officers of the force, by Joseph L. Rohlfs, a printer on the Times, who resides on Twenty-second street.

Major Poe, in speaking of his action yesterday to a DISPATCH reporter, said that while he heartily approved of the action of the police, he did not think it proper that the police were being subjected to such a charge. He added that he would be more than willing to revoke his letter and continue as before. He said that he would be more than willing to revoke his letter and continue as before.

The ordinance, section 53, chapter 3, of the City Ordinances concerning streets provides that "three or more persons shall not loiter on any sidewalk or street for the purpose of obstructing traffic or for any other purpose." It also provides that "any person who loiters on any sidewalk or street for the purpose of obstructing traffic or for any other purpose shall be fined not more than $50 or more than five months imprisonment."

The major in concluding his conversation regarding the matter said that he knew quite well that ninety-nine girls out of a hundred did not loiter on the corners of Seventh and Broad streets. He said that he knew quite well that ninety-nine girls out of a hundred did not loiter on the corners of Seventh and Broad streets.
